LET THE SPIRIT INSPIRE!

Proverbs 24:30-34

by Lisa C Petersen

"I passed by the field of a sluggard, by the vineyard of a man lacking sense, and behold, it was all overgrown with thorns; the ground was covered with nettles, and its stone wall was broken down. Then I saw and considered it; I looked and received instruction. A little sleep, a little slumber, a little folding of the hands to rest, and poverty will come upon you like a robber, and want like an armed man."
Proverbs 24:30-34

I would like to say that my interpretation of the field and/or the vineyard in these verses represents our life, our path.

Everyone needs to identify those thorny thickets, those weeds that burn you when they come in contact and those places in your defensive/protective walls that have been battered and broken.

When you have identified these things, don't become complacent or weary and let those things keep robbing/stealing from you...know you are loved, you are worth everything to Him and find those that know that about you and sit with them...Walk with them...abide in those that abide in Him and those that see you through His love and His grace.

Guard your hearts and walk with Him and those that He places in your path. Close the door once and for all to those that tear you down. Open your eyes and take inventory of your life and search for Him and Him only. He will give you the things you need to cut down/out those thorny thickets and burning weeds. He will give you new stones, stronger stones to rebuild your protective wall that guards your heart.

He will provide...but first you must turn to Him, trust Him and expect and expect the things He will provide. He loves you and so do I. Through Christ Jesus, all things are possible!!

Sincerely,

From my prayers to your abundance!!

Through Love, I write,
Lisa
